

Distillery Production Manager

- Growing southern California distillery
- Exceptional opportunity for a candidate who has held an operations leadership role at a medium-sized distillery, brewery or winery with on-site production and packaging.

Job Description

The Production Manager will be a key member of the management team with responsibility for the overall operational leadership and manufacturing a range of alcoholic products. This individual will be accountable for all aspects of operations, including:

- Planning, budgeting, sourcing, producing and shipping goods.
- Managing and developing the operations team.
- Complying with all applicable local to federal laws in a highly regulated industry.
- Continual improvements to the cost, efficiency, quality, safety and environmental management of operations.
- Maintenance and improvement of equipment and facilities.
- Embracing and improving the company's culture of operational excellence and continuous improvement.

The Successful Applicant

- Education: minimum bachelor's degree in science, engineering, business administration or related field.
- Experience: 10+ years in a manufacturing or operations environment in the alcoholic beverage industry, with demonstrated experience in growing operations/production, planning/budgeting and team building.
- Character: unrelenting problem solver/doer with developed management skills
- Strong communication, interpersonal and negotiating skills.
- Experience working with manufacturing based technology, software, processes and principles.
- Willing and able to perform any operations team member's job, including physically demanding ones.

What's on Offer

- Competitive compensation package, including healthcare and stock options.